

Failure...may result in elimination

A little something about the up front games. They were based on a TV show apparently- Minute to Win it. On one rainy morning the worship and teaching times were held inside and so we even got to see the blueprint for the game, chocolate unicorn: